HEAR
the sledges
with the bells,—
Silver bells,—

WHAT a world of merriment their melody foretells!

HOW they tinkle, tinkle, tinkle,
In the icy air of night!
While the stars that oversprinkle
All the heavens seem to twinkle
With a crystalline delight,—
Keeping time, time, time,
In a sort of Runic rhyme,
To the tintinnabulation that so musically wells
From the bells, bells, bells, bells,
Bells, bells, bells,—
From the jingling and the tinkling of the bells.

HEAR the mellow wedding-bells,—

GOLDEN bells!

What a world of happiness their harmony foretells!

Through the balmy air of night

How they ring out their delight!

D
FROM the molten-golden notes,
And all in tune,
What a liquid ditty floats
To the turtle-dove that listens while she gloats
On the moon!

Oh, from out the sounding cells
What a gush of euphony voluminously wells!

How it swells!
How it dwells

On the Future! how it tells
Of the rapture that impels

TO the swinging and the ringing
Of the bells, bells, bells,
Of the bells, bells, bells, bells,
Bells, bells, bells,—
To the rhyiming and the chiming of the bells.

HEAR the loud alarum-bells,—
Brazen bells!
What a tale of terror, now, their turbulency tells!
In the startled ear of night

HOW they scream out their affright !
Too much horrified to speak,
They can only shriek, shriek,
Out of tune,

IN the clamorous appealing to the mercy of the fire,

I N a mad expostulation
with the deaf and frantic fire
Leaping higher, higher,
higher,
With a desperate desire,
And a resolute endeavor,
Now—now to sit or never,
By the side of the pale-faced moon.

OH, the bells, bells, bells!
What a tale their terror tells
Of despair!
How they clang, and clash, and roar!
What a horror they outpour
On the bosom of the palpitating air!

YET the ear it fully knows,
By the twanging,
And the clanging,
How the danger ebbs and flows;
Yet the ear distinctly tells,
In the jangling,
And the wrangling,

How the danger sinks and swells,
By the sinking or the swelling in the anger of the bells,—
Of the bells,—
Of the bells, bells, bells, bells,
Bells, bells, bells,—
In the clamor and the clangor of the bells!

HEAR the tolling of the bells,—
Iron bells!
What a world of solemn thought their monody compels!

IN the silence of the night,
How we shiver with affright
At the melancholy menace of their tone ;
For every sound that floats
From the rust within their throats
Is a groan.

AND
the people,—
ah, the people,—
They that dwell up
in the steeple,
All alone,
And who, tolling, tolling, toll-
ing,
In that muffled monotone,
Feel a glory in so rolling
On the human heart a stone—
They are neither man nor woman,—
They are neither brute
nor human,—
They are ghouls:

AND their king it is who
tolls;
And he rolls, rolls, rolls,
Rolls,
A pæan from the bells!
And his merry bosom swells
With the pæan of the bells!
And he dances, and he yells;
Keeping time, time, time,
In a sort of Runic rhyme,
To the pæan of the bells,—
Of the bells:

KEEPING time, time, time,
In a sort of Runic rhyme,
To the throbbing of the bells,—
Of the bells, bells, bells,—
To the sobbing of the bells;
Keeping time, time, time,
As he knells, knells, knells,
In a happy Runic rhyme,
To the rolling of the bells,—
Of the bells, bells, bells,—
To the tolling of the bells,
Of the bells, bells, bells, bells,—
Bells, bells, bells,—
To the moaning and the groaning of the bells.
